WINNING: Commitment To Success

By John Hay

"To those who are involved--both the winners and the losers."—JH

Last Saturday afternoon, I watched with utter disbelief as De Paul, the nation's number one ranked basketball team, lost to a non-entity school in their first game of the classic NCAA Tournament.

The Blue Demons had won all season long, dropping only one game along the trail to the tournament. They were the epitome of winning: they had the talent to win, they had the coaching to win, they were picked to win, they were expected to win. But they lost, bringing their hopes for a national championship to a disheartening halt.

Stunned, I switched the TV off, wondering among other things, about the nature of winning and losing. We have winners. We love winners. We see them as those who emerge victorious from emotion-charged contests, or who are of the prevailing party, that has the momentum in their favour for a season. We jump on the bandwagon of a winning cause, without the slightest regard for the efforts and contributions of those who fall prey, so to speak, to the contest winner. We want in the worst way to be, or be related to, the winners.

Is it really, as Vince Lombardi advocated, that "winning isn't everything, it's the only thing"? Or is winning more relative than that, allowing for legitimate losses and failures along with the successes?

Whatever it is, winning is not necessarily positional. Winning a contest doesn't make a person or team a winner, just as losing it doesn't make them a loser. Winning an election doesn't necessarily make us "student leaders," nor does losing cancel our influence. The contest is not an end in itself, whether we emerge on top or not.

Winning is more a state of being than it is anything else—something to develop inwardly, rather than to flaunt outwardly. It is that coveted "winning attitude" that emerges victorious, although it may not be declared "winner". Winning doesn't culminate with a big splash, but rather wins the endurance test.

As I read TIME Magazine's prescription for "American Renewal" (February 23, 1981), one phrase struck me hard: "On the world scene, as perhaps in life, there are no permanent solutions or victories. To win means to stay committed, and to maneuver."

How many would-be-winners are scattered along the wayside because the loss of a particular contest ultimately defeated them? Who wins?

I think John Kennedy best described the nature of winning (and of losing). He said, "the credit belongs to the man in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood...who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best, knows in the end, the triumph of high achievement and...if he fails, at least fails while darting greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

I wondered what would be the response of DePaul's old Coach Ray Myer, who after 39 years in the arena had just seen perhaps his last, best hopes for a national championship slip away. I switched the TV back on and amid the endless replays of the final fatal shot, Ray Myer was down, but not out. "We lost," he said, "this wasn't our game and we're disappointed, but we've got nothing to hang our heads about. We'll just call it a day and remember that tomorrow is Sunday."

Obviously, what the old coach was expressing was the winning attitude. He had won before; he had lost before, too; neither destroyed him or cancelled out his efforts. He accepted the loss as gracefully as he did the wins. It is Ray Myer who is the real winner.

In Monday's election, it is not those elected who become "instant winners". Nor do the losers necessarily lose. The key to winning is not positional, but to stay committed, and to maneuver. —JH

SPECIAL ELECTION ISSUE

ASG PRESIDENT

Name: Tom Benson

Class: Junior

Major: Elem. Ed.

G.P.A.: 2.6

Hometown: Marshall, Wisconsin

Candidate for: ASG President

Platform:

I have not been involved in student government on Olivet's campus. I do not, however, consider this to be a disadvantage. On the contrary, often times people who enter a new field, enter that field with a greater objectivity and enthusiasm than one who has "been there." I am speaking my feelings toward my role and responsibilities toward my job if elected to the office of ASG President.

I feel a strong urge to become involved and to help make a strong contribution to the ongoing process of student government on this campus.

A major responsibility of this student government is to provide a smooth working machine to adequately reach all areas of campus life.

We must strive for maximum efficiency and keep all student committees strong. To do this, student government will need more student input than ever before. Forums will be held to represent and circulate student viewpoints. Library hours are a concern that committees will consider. Committee after committee have been established to deal with a wide range of areas on campus. These committees will have major responsibilities to continue and improve the influence of the student government system.

I am a candidate who comes straight from the ranks. I know of many problems and concerns that are merely passed around at dinner tables and in dorm rooms that never find solutions. I have some innovative ideas on how to take those concerns and give them a true voice which will be heard.

Name: Jull Crabtree

Class: Junior

Major: English

G.P.A.: 4.0

Hometown: Overland Park, Kansas

Candidate for: ASG President.

Platform:

I believe that student council is a viable means for expressing student ideas and for improving student life. My experience as a council member has given me a chance to see the way student government operates, and I believe that with this experience, I can work to improve the council in some important ways.

I propose:

1) To strive to improve the image of student council by revitalizing communication channels, through utilizing the GLIMMERGLASS as a forum for student ideas and as a monitor of council activities, through increasing the accessibility of council members, and through encouraging students to attend council meetings;

2) To provide creative leadership by encouraging

a holistic, or unified, student government, combining the efforts of the various branches of government (such as Spiritual Life, Social Affairs, and the GLIMMERGLASS), by promoting activities that will increase students' awareness and concern for world issues, and by providing positive and creative input into everyday elements of student life, such as chapel programming, social activities, and the GLIMMERGLASS;

3) To make constructive internal improvements, such as speeding up the legislative process, creating a register of council activities for continuing reference, and keeping a record of committee actions and research to prevent duplication of efforts and to promote continuity.

My experience in working on student council has taught me how to use the system to get things done, and has also shown me places where improvements would help to increase the council's efficiency.

Qualifications:

I believe that my leadership and student government experience qualifies me to fulfill the responsibilities of ASG President. This year I serve as Junior Class President and as a member of Student Council. In addition, I am Second Vice-President of the Orpheus Choir, departmental assistant in the English Department, a member of the Business Club and the Pre-Law Club, and a member of the Concert Singers. Last year I was a member of the Academic Affairs Commission.

In addition to this experience, I believe that my concern for student affairs on this campus and my desire to be involved and to contribute are important qualifications for the office of ASG President.

Name: Bryan Kirby

Class: Junior

Major: Speech Communication & psychology
G.P.A.: 3.75

Hometown: Paris, IL

Candidate for: ASG President

Platform:

My desire is to bring the office of student body president to the students and not force the students to come to the president, though that option is open also. Some major responsibilities of the office include the following:

- 1) Lead the students in such a manner as to benefit the students, work in cooperation with the administration and faculty, satisfy myself, and please God.
- 2) Instill an atmosphere and attitudes conducive to mutual trust, cooperation, and openness for all involved.
- 3) Setting the kind of example myself that visually reflects what I'm advocating, in other words, to practice what I preach.
- 4) Keep the office of the president accessible at all times, whether it be from the dorm room, the office itself, or any other place where I may be reached.
- 5) Working to earn your respect and not assuming that it naturally comes with the office.
- 6) Not making specific campaign promises that I have no idea whether they will ever be accomplished or not, but rather to be open and receptive to the students voice and providing them a chance to get a little piece of the action.

A major goal here is to open up and improve the channels of communication between the students and the faculty and the administration so as to easily provide accessible routes of direct communication to discuss ideas, voice complaints, suggest changes, or propose new thoughts and plans. You as students should know the power and privileges appointed and allotted to you in working through and with the president and the council. Be aware of what you can do.

Qualifications:

My qualifications for this position begin in high school where I held a number of leadership positions including Senior class president, Spanish club president, Drama club president, and the school newspaper editor while still maintaining my grade point average and being selected to Who's Who Among American High School Students. Through these offices, I was able to obtain valuable experience in working and leading students, my peers, and working with the sponsors and teachers, my administrators. I was involved indirectly with a program through the school, called Youth in Government and took active part in my church functions.

I came to Olivet for my sophomore year after spending my first year at Eastern Illinois University. Since coming to Olivet, I have been a member of the Spiritual Life executive committee and the Director of the Disciples in Drama, the largest Spiritual Life organization which has experienced tremendous growth in the past year.

I have been the departmental assistant this year for the Speech Communications department where I work directly with the professors. My activities have varied from directing the spring play to judging speech contests, but through them all I have had to work closely with many students, other student leaders, several faculty members, and people from the administration. This has definitely given me a wide variety of experience in all situation and with all people. With the Lord's guidance my desire is to be a servant of the students, and with your help, to guide the student body through another successful year of personal growth socially, academically, and spiritually, in which all have the opportunity to participate in a student government that actually is run by the students.

Name: Dawn Landwehr

G.P.A.: 3.19

Class: Sophomore (Junior standing)

Hometown: Mattoon, Wisconsin

Major: English

Candidate for: ASG President

Platform:

YOU have joined the ASG when you pay your activities fee each semester. Unless you use your government, your money is being wasted. The Associated Student Government, according to our constitution, has three main objectives: to secure a closer relationship between the students and the administration; to regulate and coordinate student activities; and to promote desirable practices and traditions among the students on this campus. As ASG President, it would be my responsibility to meet these objectives in the manner most appropriate for, and beneficial to, the students.

The fulfillment of this responsibility, according to my plan, will require determination, ability and availability. Determination will be needed to work effectively with the administration: to coordinate a conflicting conglomeration of social, spiritual, and academic events; and to uphold certain necessary traditions during a time of escalating change. The ability to carry out what has been determined is the second requirement of a responsible ASG President. I would like to place a special emphasis on the need for availability to the students, in an ASG president.

One of the major problems as I see it on this campus right now is the lack of communication between the administration and the students, and also between the ASG and the students. The job of the ASG is to communicate with the administration, but if that communication is not passed on to each student, the ASG is only doing half of its' job.

I believe there are ways better communication can be obtained. The first of these is to elect officers who will be available to the students. If officers are available, students will be able to communicate with them when they, the students, have a need. My main goal as ASG president would be to see the ASG utilized by its members. You have joined the ASG when you pay your student activities fee each semester. Unless you use your government, your money is being wasted. As I petitioned for this office, many students asked me, "What is ASG?". I feel that if this is the case, the ASG is not being used to its fullest potential. I think determination, ability and availability could correct this problem.

Better communication can also be obtained through use of the GLIMMERGLASS. I feel that Student Council minutes should be published in the GLIMMERGLASS, as should the student activities calendar. The calendar should contain events, places, times, costs, sponsors, and who can be contacted for more information. This would of course, take some careful planning, but with determination, it could be accomplished.

Citing an endless list of itemized issues often becomes meaningless. Everyone knows what needs to be done, yet presidents rarely accomplish the goals set in their platforms. My approach is not to set up a list of what I would like to accomplish, but to get the lines of communication opened, so that the ASG might try to accomplish what the majority of the students really want.

Qualifications:

I feel that my best qualification for the job of ASG President is that of availability. I am not overly involved in any one activity on campus. Assuming the position of President would not create a vacancy somewhere else. If I were elected, I would be able to devote my full attention to my new position.

While at Olivet, I have been a WRA dorm president, secretary of the Pre-law club, worked extensively with the Drama department and served on the Freshman publicity committee.

VICE PRESIDENT OF SPIRITUAL LIFE

Name: Joseph Crist
Class: Junior
Major: Religion
G.P.A.: 2.89

Hometown: Washington D.C.

Candidate for: Vice President of Spiritual Life

Platform

My concept of Spiritual Life is that: Its purpose is to help each student to grow in a personal (1) EXPERIENCE, (2) RELATIONSHIP, (3) and COMMITMENT with Jesus Christ. We are not here to build a club; but the "Church of Christ," through the simple gospel of the cross. Nor is Spiritual Life here to substitute your commitment to Jesus Christ, but to supplement it.

Programs:

If I was elected, there would be a CONTINUATION and a DEEPENING of this year's Spiritual Life Council and helping with the re-organization; I feel that we have laid a solid foundation. Next year would be a year of building upon the already laid foundation. There has not been a de-emphasis of off-campus ministries, but a greater emphasis on the on-campus ministries.

(1) I would continue with and seek to see Prayer Band deepen its commitment and become more of a part of the campus routine. (2) I would seek to see what could be done with Sunday School attendance. (3) I would seek to see what could be done with fall revival follow-up through Prayer Band and Floor Chaplains. (4) I would continue to see how we as next year's council, could enrich the off-campus ministries like SUNRISE and LIFE-SONG.

Qualifications

I feel that my willingness to serve the Student Body, my bird's eye view of service experience and my personal commitment to Jesus Christ I could serve you best as Vice-President of Spiritual Life. From my past experience, I have learned that no form of super-organization can substitute for undivided personal INVOLVEMENT

High School Activities

I had an important learning experience from serving on a faculty-student committee before being elected Vice-President of the Student Body my senior year. My elected responsibility in the Student Body of 2,000 consisted of coordinating activities of 40 clubs with the Activity Calendar. Also, I was responsible to motivate these clubs and the Student Body in raising $2,000 for needed improvements for our school building.

College Activities

I became actively involved in Evangs my sophomore year through the jail ministry. This led me to seek the position of Director of Evangs my junior year. This did not only provide me an opportunity to serve Evangs as director of (1) four nursing home ministries (2) a jail ministry (3) a boy's youth detention center ministry, (4) and a junior church in Pembroke, but gave me a chance to see and to work first hand with the inter-workings of Spiritual Life.

(1) With these platforms, (2) this defined purpose of Spiritual Life, (3) my willingness to serve you as a student body, (4) and my experience in Spiritual Life, I could serve YOU best in the capacity of Spiritual Life.

Name: Danny Sherar
Class: Sophomore
Major: Business Management Religion - minor
G.P.A.: 3.16
Hometown: Indianapolis, IN
Candidate for: Vice President of Spiritual Life

Platform

The major responsibility of the Vice President is not that of a controller, but that of an assistant to the students involved. The primary tasks, I feel, would include working with the Administration to keep the program running smoothly, giving helpful suggestions, and creating more incentives for the students, to give them the idea that Spiritual Life centers around them.

To do this, I would begin with the Floor

Chaplains' program (the one that virtually reaches to every student living in the residence halls). From there I would make suggestions to the Administration to make any kind of minor changes whatsoever, that give students involved a little more enthusiasm, with the goal in mind of allowing them to help the executive council overcome some of their weaknesses and shortcomings.

Qualifications

I could easily overwhelm people with my qualifications if only I could make something out of nothing. I believe my greatest amount of experience came through being a Floor Chaplain on third floor of Chapman Hall. There, I worked very enthusiastically to get to know what college students look for in dorm life. I certainly enjoyed that job and felt I went far with it. I have since come to realize and be concerned with the need for dorm fellowship. I have also enjoyed being actively involved with Life-Song Ministries for the last two years, and also being familiar with Concerned Christians in Action, Disciples in Drama, Sunrise, and Evangs.

Letter of Appreciation

To: Rev. Ted Lee, Dean of Students, President, Faculty and Students,

Rosemary and I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for being so nice to us during the revival last week. It was a real pleasure to serve you all. We felt that your attitude and response to the evangelist and us, as well, was so commendable. Keep on being the great student body and people that you now are and we know God will reward you all richly!

We love you all. Thanks again for everything.

Sincerely,
Jim and Rosemary Green

Proposals for Student Consideration

It is A.S.G.'s hope to gauge student opinion on two important issues through a poll taken Monday along with Student Government elections. These results would then be submitted to the Academic Affairs Commission for further consideration.

The intended survey will focus on two major areas. The first emphasis being the age-old problem of library hours. Do weeknights and weekend closing times best fulfill the needs of students with education as their major objective? How many students would actually utilize the facility if hours were extended? Responses to this line of questioning can be very useful in establishing a time schedule not only economically efficient but also one which maintains the highest level of academic excellence.

The second area of concern has to do with the re-evaluation of the current grading system. Is the straight A through F scale a true indication of a student's performance, or would an incorporation of pluses and minuses provide a more accurate measure of achievement? Would it generate greater incentive for students to excel or is the current means of grading adequate? This issue could have a great effect, thus it should be given careful consideration.

Note should be made that this poll is only for information's sake. The results will in no way directly affect the current academic policy. It will, however, be a useful device in noting student concern and illustrating their desire for administrative attention to vital areas of educational emphasis.

In order to be truly representative of the student body, Associated Student Government needs to hear your opinions. For this reason we ask you to think, talk, and most importantly vote on these issues Monday, March 23.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Name: Penny Reno

Class: Junior

Major: Christian Education

G.P.A.: 2.95

Hometown: Cincinnati OH

Candidate For: Social Affairs

Being Vice-President of Social Affairs this year has been an exciting and rewarding experience. I've found that my responsibility not only lies in the organization of activities, but also in setting a climate at our events that is positive and that glorifies the name of God. I see this as the most important goal for myself in the position of Social V.P.

With a year of priceless learning behind, I see next year as a greater challenge than ever. There are many improvements that can be made, not only in organization, but in the quality of Social Committee begin to work with Spiritual Life and Student Council in the sponsoring of seminars on a wide range of subjects. I also want to see the activities are being offered every week for the purpose of fellowship and unity. These are just a few changes I would like to make in the future.

I want to take this opportunity to express my gratitude for allowing me to serve the student body in this capacity. I will always count it as one of the greatest experiences of my life.

I pray that next year Social Affairs will take on a greater burden for the well-being of Olivet Students. Social Committee is not only an organization, but a ministry and I will be privileged to be a part of it for another year.

TREASURER

Name: Tammie Salmon

Class: Junior

Major: Accounting

G.P.A.: 3.569

Hometown: Portage, Indiana

Candidate for: Treasurer

Platform:

I feel the major responsibilities of the office of treasurer are keeping a working budget for A.S.G., maintaining thorough financial records, watching over disbursements and receipts of cash, and making sure our commitments are paid up in full, on time. These can be accomplished by keeping a close watch on all financial matters and, as I said before, keeping accurate financial records. I feel the goals for improvement of every treasurer is to somehow save money and keep the organization running sound financially and out of debt.

Qualifications:

Three years of accounting courses and an auditing course will make these responsibilities easy to fulfill. I've completed these courses and am completing them now and have also worked for a company keeping their books for them. I counted all cash coming in and going out during this time. I also hope to work for an accounting office this summer. I was Freshman Class President. I tutored a child in math for Circle K. I am a Business Club Member and a Captain for a Life-Song Ministries Team and was also a freshman advisor.

Name: Beverly D. Cain

Class: Sophomore (Junior Standing)

Major: Accounting

G.P.A.: 3.56

Hometown: Mt. Prospect, IL

Candidate for: Treasurer

Platform:

After working with the past two treasurers, I have seen many of the varied responsibilities of the A.S.G. Treasurer in action. These responsibilities include keeping track of student council expenditures, overseeing the expenditures of each club and organization, dispersing payment for both student council, clubs and organizations, serving on committees such as the finance committee, and possessing a voice in the student government.

I hope to guard student council against unnecessary spending, to see that as much of the student's money goes back to the students as directly as possible.

Each organization or club treasurer works directly with the A.S.G. treasurer. To facilitate this relationship I would have an organizational meeting with all treasurers in the beginning of the year to set policies and to explain the system for purchases and payments. I would also be in my office a minimum of eight set hours each week to enable sufficient communication between the club treasurers and myself.

I would meet with each of the treasurers to balance their club's books at least once a semester, and hopefully more frequently with organizations such as the Aurora and the Glimmerglass.

As A.S.G. treasurer I would be the chairperson of the finance committee. This committee's main duty is to establish the budget for the following year. As chairperson, I would encourage budget increases only when necessary, and these increases would be added proportionally to the students' needs.

I feel that my voice in student government would be one of the key responsibilities of this position. In addition to accounting for the spending of A.S.G., I would like to be an active part in the growth and changes that will occur at Olivet next year, instituted by student council. I want this voice to be not only my opinion, but also the voice of the students I will represent. In order to encourage this, I will keep my office door open to listen to any student's view on current policies and changes the student would like to see put into effect.

Qualifications:

The A.S.G. treasurer must accomplish his task by going through and working with the Olivet accounting system. I feel I am qualified to do this partially from my current experience as Sophomore Class Treasurer, Business Manager of the Glimmerglass, and Secretary for Spiritual Life.

As Sophomore Class Treasurer and Glimmerglass Business Manager, I have worked through A.S.G. From this experience, I know the general policies of accounting for A.S.G., and will be able to relate to the problems that the club treasurer's will face because I have been there.

As Spiritual Life Secretary, I have worked directly with the Olivet Accounting Department. Through this, I have seen how the school requisition process works, and have met most of the people I would be working with next year, as A.S.G. treasurer.

To do the job of A.S.G. treasurer, one must have sound accounting principles. At the close of this semester, I will have completed the intermediate level of accounting at Olivet.

While attending high school, I was the bookkeeper for a small security service company in the community. My duties included billing the companies we serviced, paying the bills we incurred, computing and paying a payroll of approximately 50 persons bi-monthly, and doing general secretarial tasks.

For the past two summers, I have worked in the accounts receivable of a large corporation. Here, my duties included preparing the checks received from banks for computer processing, corresponding with the banks, using the computer terminals for the first step in processing the checks, and general office tasks.

From my experience on the job, both in my hometown community and at Olivet, and from classroom training, I feel I am qualified to handle the responsibilities of A.S.G. treasurer.

SECRETARY

March 19, 1981

Olivet Student Body
Olivet Nazarene College
Kankakee, IL 60901

Dear Student Body,

My name is Sandi Chandler and I am running for ASG Secretary for the academic year of 1981-82. I will be a Senior next year and would appreciate the opportunity to be involved in Olivet's Student Government.

I am an Accounting major with a 3.538 grade point average. My home is Pekin, Illinois.

If I were elected to this position, I would be willing to be on call when there was work that needed to be done. I would be happy to take the responsibility for the secretarial work of all ASG officers. My main goals will be efficiency and a smooth running office. I will have the time this job requires, as my class load will not be heavy next year.

Experience is one asset I do have. I have worked in various secretarial positions for the past four years. My employment has been with John Deere and Company, H&R Accounts, Means Service Center and Olivet's Home Economics Department.

At Olivet, I have been involved in Urban Ministries, Business Club, WRA, and I have been a departmental assistant for two years.

Thank you for taking an interest in Student Government and for allowing me to run for the office of Secretary.

Sincerely,
Sandi

Classification: Sophomore
Major: Business Management and Communications-Broadcasting
G.P.A.: 2.8
Hometown: Galesburg, IL
Candidate for: A.S.G. Secretary

Platform:

The major responsibilities of A.S.G. Secretary are outlined in the Associated Students Constitution but there is an attribute that I feel that is extremely important to the office of Secretary, and that is availability. Being A.S.G. Secretary would be a very time consuming job and one that would demand a person's full attention and abilities. I feel that I have the time and the necessary effort and qualifications needed to dedicate myself, full-time to the position of A.S.G. Secretary.

Qualifications:

My qualifications include my past experience as Secretary of Sophomore and Junior classes in high school, Secretary of Galesburg Sr. High School Student Council, and Sec. of Accapella Choir. I was involved with the Knox County 4H Program and served as President of my local club for two years, Sec. of local club, Sec. of County Federation Board, and Sec. of Regional Federation Board.

My involvement at ONC includes Orpheus Choir, Program Director and Manager of WKOC, and I am presently serving as a member of Student Tribunal.

I feel that these factors make me a qualified candidate for A.S.G. Secretary, and I would appreciate your support!

Proposed 1981-82 ASG Budget

One item on this year's A.S.G. election slate that should not be overlooked is the proposed budget for 1981-82. This budget represents a "tax" on students to finance student government and comprises a part of the line item "General Fee" on the Student Data Sheet. Proceeds from this fee finance many worthwhile student services, including the Aurora yearbook, the Glimmerglass, student season tickets to ONC sports events, Artist-Lecture Series, Kelley Prayer Chapel financing, and most major social events.

This coming year's proposed budget was drawn up by Student Council Finance Committee and approved by Student Council on March 11. Now the entire student body can express its wishes when it votes to pass or reject the proposed budget.

Unfortunately, the Finance Committee found it necessary to raise the budget from $35.00 per student per semester to $36.00. This 3% budget hike does not seem nearly so inflationary when compared to last year's 14% hike in tuition, room, and board. The major reason for a budget hike is the $1.00 increase in Aurora allotment caused by an estimated 10% increase in book publishing costs for next year. Other minor revisions affect other line items on this budget.

—Ken Roth

NOTES:

- (1) ASG is committed to help retire the debt on Ludwig Center until the year 2000.
- (2) The fee for the sports program becomes a part of the school athletic budget.
- (3) "Grants for ASG officers" is for the officers' salaries.
- (4) "Services by college" is for accounting and recordkeeping expenses incurred by Miller Business Center for the ASG account.
- (5) The student council fund is for most ASG expenses.
- (6) The interschool conference fund is for expenses incurred at the Nazarene student leadership conference for new ASG officers.

Name: Mindy Vaught
Class: Sophomore (Junior Standing)
Major: Business Administration
G.P.A.: 3.2
Hometown: Hastings, Michigan
Candidate for: A.S.G. Secretary
Platform:
 As I see it, the major responsibilities of this office include not only serving as secretary to the President of Associated Students, but also to all of the other A.S.G. officers, as well. It also includes recording the minutes at each Student Council meeting but also, active participation and leadership as a member of Student Council. I feel that three important criteria for this position are availability, capability, and dependability, and to assure my meeting these criteria, I would plan my extracurricular activities around my responsibilities as secretary, and not vice versa.

Qualifications:

My qualifications include typing (60 wpm), and substantial past secretarial experience in high school clubs and organizations, as well as serving as secretary for the Administrative Council for a year in my home church. Here at Olivet, I have been on the Varsity Tennis team for two years and a member of Varsity Club. Though I have not been involved in Student Council here at ONC, I served on Student Council for two years in high school.

AURORA EDITOR

Name: Gloria J. Wickham Class: Junior
Major: Business Administration (Marketing) Minors Communications (Journalism) & Sociology
Hometown: Muncie, IL
Candidate For: Aurora Editor
G.P.A.: 2.986

Platform:

As your present yearbook editor, I have seen that the responsibilities of this office are numerous. An editor must first of all know the technical aspects of constructing a highly complicated book such as the Aurora. This knowledge should be from first-hand experience as a beginning staff person, involved in layout, reporting, and writing, to the production end of the process—what actually happens and why we must follow certain procedures.

An editor must also be aware of the business aspects of this office. Management of time and people is an every day occurrence. Keeping good relations among staff members is sometimes a full-time job, especially at deadline times. Also, the editor must be aware of the financial aspects. Dealing with one of the largest budgets in our student government, money matters must be handled by a competent, reliable business manager who is advised by the editor on the publishing expenses.

Perhaps one of the most vital responsibilities the editor holds is that of producing a book illustrative of the campus, the students, the standards, and the heritage of the school itself.

From experience in this office I feel there are areas for improvement. The advertising section is of extreme importance, since our advertisers consist mainly of church ads and community business ads. By getting a competent, salesperson-type to fill the position of ads editor, we should have no difficulty in handling ads earlier in the year.

Of course, there is always room for improvement in photography. This year's interest in photography (30 photographers on staff) will hopefully continue into next year and the talents of these students can be utilized in this publication.

Weekly meetings with the section editors have proved to be valuable and constructive. This should be continued next year. Seminars that staff members may attend are good in informing new and old staff members of what is new and best in yearbooks. We have been asked to host a high school seminar in which our staff will be involved.

One year behind the editor's desk has been an experience I have enjoyed tremendously, and if elected for the 1982 Aurora editorship, I would again put forth my best effort to represent the students and Olivet and to capture the memories that we are living each day.

Photo Exhibit

A photographic exhibit is being displayed from March 12-26, in the gallery of the Art Department of Olivet. The works represent a cross-section from the exhibition, "My Father's World," by senior art student James R. Voight.

Voight is completing the requirements for the B.A. degree in art at Olivet. He is a graduate of Kankakee Community College where he majored in agricultural studies. He has also attended the University of Illinois in photographic studies. "My Father's World" is an accumulation of prints depicting his views of Olivet Nazarene College campus and rural mid-west scenes. The prints are artistically displayed in both color and black-and-white prints.

The show is sponsored by the Art Department and is a requirement for graduating seniors in art. The show is produced under the direction of both Harvey Collins, Art Department Chairman, and Franklin Garton, Director of Voight's directed study in photographic studies.

GLIMMERGLASS EDITOR

Name: Karen DeSollarClass: JuniorG.P.A.: 3.182Hometown: Beardstown, ILMajor: Speech Communications (Journalism) and EnglishCandidate for: Glimmerglass EditorPlatform:

The function of "The Glimmerglass" is to be an honest reflection of campus life. That makes it, not only a place to spotlight achievements, but also a place where campus problems can be approached openly and fairly. I think "The Glimmerglass" should become an active voice on campus. It is not a public relations tool. "The Glimmerglass" is to be geared specifically for the Olivet student—our goals, our achievements, our future and our problems.

There is no teacher like experience. As current editor-in-chief, my experience has shown me all aspects of publishing "The Glimmerglass", from story ideas to page design and lay-out. I've learned to handle the problems and frustrations as well as the fulfillments.

In the future I would like for "The Glimmerglass" to become an arm of Student Council, extending to the entire student body. The input and active involvement of students working with "The Glimmerglass" and Student Council could bring positive results for everyone.

As editor next year, I would also initiate the following new ideas: the addition of national news, approached on an editorial basis; a national sports column written by an Olivet student with commentary on trades, salaries, standings, etc; a cut-out, send in survey in each issue on topics relevant to ONC like church attendance and dating; and features like the two-page feature on "Sign Language: Total Communication" (see "The Glimmerglass", March 5, 1981, pp. 6-7).

Qualifications:

-Currently editor-in-chief
-assistant editor, 1½ years
-reporter, 1 year
-employed for two summers at hometown newspaper, "The Illinolan Star"

Other College Activities:

-disc jockey, WKOC
-Treble Clef Choir
-Choral Union

High School Activities:

-Chorus
-Musicals
-Madrigals
-Member Student Librarian Association
-Who's Who Among American High School Students

Church Activities:

-local NYI treasurer
-delegate from Illinois District to World Youth Conference, Estes Park, Colorado

The student newspaper on a college campus should be the voice of the students, as well as a source of information. To be effective, the paper should exemplify the highest possible degree of professional journalism. It should relevantly reflect the concerns and interest of the entire student body.

I would like to see the newspaper rise to new heights. To accomplish this I would, avoid the duplication of articles and their subject matter, routine and uncreative layout design, and actively avoid the presentation of negative articles which tend to reflect poorly on Olivet and erode the morale of the student body.

The resources needed to avoid such situations in the "Glimmerglass" lie well within the reach of the paper. One of the major duties of the Editor is to seek out and tap resources. In order to do this, it is necessary to involve the entire student body in the production of each issue, whether through their interest, opinion, or direct participation in the actual production. This would truly make the Glimmerglass the students' newspaper.

I believe the following objectives will help achieve the goal of making the Glimmerglass a student newspaper we can all be proud of and find enjoyable and informative to read.

1) Strive for a high degree of professional journalism; through accurate reporting, coverage of relevant news, and creative layout design.

2) Develop greater rapport between the "Glimmerglass" staff and the potential writing talent on campus. This would help achieve a higher level of input from the entire student body and allow the paper to be very student-orientated.

3) See to it that the paper is a positive media of communication between the students, administration, and faculty, allowing issues to be raised, but in a positive, factual manner.

4) Have more diverse coverage of topics of interest to the students. One example of this is the possible addition of a Student Council column, to keep students informed of the actions of their elected officials.

5) The addition of some world and national news in order to help raise student awareness in these areas.

Qualifications

My experience in newspaper has been both diverse and extensive. This would be a great asset to me as Editor.

As a member of the Glimmerglass staff I have written for two years and served as a member of the executive staff in the capacity of Sports Editor under the direction of two editors.

As Sports Editor I was responsible for development of article topics, assignments of articles and photos, editing, and design and layout of the entire sports section. This year's homecoming issue also contained the most extensive sports section in the history of the Glimmerglass.

I've also written for the Kankakee Daily Journal for one year. There I have gained an insight into the workings of a public paper. At the Journal my responsibilities include; reporting, feature writing, layout, and editing. Also in the area of public newspaper, I have designed and developed ads for a local retail concern.

Further experience gained through clubs and organizations on campus include; Pre-Law Club, Business Club, and activity in intramurals and the mens tennis team.

I feel that these qualifications give me both the technical and the journalistic experience needed to be Editor. As well as giving me a well rounded background, thus helping me to be an informed and effective Editor for the entire student body.
